Re: Offices

Gloria,

I need a favor. My office is being painted, and I was hoping I could use your office this afternoon while you are at your client's reviewing their account. I need to ___(1)___ several people for the job opening in our department. Sorry this is such a last-minute ___(2)__. I just found out myself about the painters coming in.

I thought of you because I overheard you telling George that you would be out of the office for some meetings late this afternoon. There are four ___(3)__, and I have appointments with all of them after lunch.

I don't know if you were even planning on coming back to the office after your ___(4)__. If not, then you won't even notice that I'm here. Either way, it won't take long. I can easily finish before 3:30. Then you can have your office back.

Before you leave for the afternoon can you ___(5)___ to clear any confidential papers from your workspace? Thank you in advance.

Questions 8 – 10 refer to the following news article:

The author of the best-selling The Da Vinci Code, Dan Brown has now sold over 80 million copies of the book, making him one of the richest novelists of all time. All four of his novels were on The New York Times bestseller list in the same week, and he made it to Time magazine's list of the 100 most influential people of the year 2005. His income from the sales of The Da Vinci Code alone was over $200 million. This latter figure makes his fortune next to that of Harry Potter series author J. K. Rowling, whose wealth from the sales of her novels is estimated at over $800 million.

But Brown's first three novels had little success, with fewer than 10,000 copies in each of their first printings. However, his fourth, The Da Vinci Code, became a runaway bestseller, going to the top of the New York Times best-seller list during its very first week of release in 2003.

8. By how much does Dan Brown's income from The Da Vinci Code compare to that of J. K. Rowling's Harry Potter series?
- a) One fourth b) One third c) One half d) Two thirds
9. One magazine has declared Dan Brown as what?
- a) Among the 100 wealthiest people. b) More popular than J.K. Rowling.
c) Among the 100 most influential people. d) More prolific than J.K. Rowling.
10. How much is the estimated wealth of Dan Brown?
- a) $10 million b) $80 million c) $200 million d) $800 million
